Daniel was standing on the banks of the majestic river Tigris, near the capital city of Pasargadae, with three of his friends. He was taking a walk after a short illness. Looking at the river, he saw a strange vision. It looked like there was a man suspended in the air in the middle of the river over the water. He was wearing beautiful white cloths of linen, and a belt of gold. The belt was studded with clusters of precious pearls. His body was three times larger than of a regular human. His face was bright as a lightning bolt, and his eyes were shining like burning fire. His arms and legs looked like they were made out of refined shiny copper. When the apparition spoke, the sound of his voice sounded like a sound of a legion. The three friends, who were with Daniel, fled into the hiding. The apparition was so frightful that Daniel trembled. As he noticed that...
