The success of the survey has been so marked that the Lake George Association has asked each board of health to make a special appropriation this year to continue the service. Of the 637 pieces of property reviewed 372 were found to have one or more conditions that needed sanitary improvement. These were first reported to the owners of the property, and in nearly every instance prompt measures were taken to correct the conditions noted. In those few instances where this was not the case, the matter was referred to the local board of health and the proper action was taken by them. The board of health of the Fort Edward Consolidated Health District, Washington County, has placed the sum of $600 in their budget for 1918 for the full-time services of a public health nurse for a period...
