Not illustrated. 1897 Excerpt: . . . and learned men who adopt one view for a time, and upon further research change about to the opposite hypothesis. And this fact shows the need of greatest care and caution. The main conclusion we should all reach by this survey of the facts of criticism is, that the apologetics of the present day should recognize the great difference between questions of literature and those of fundamental doctrine. Whether Paul or Apollos or Barnabas or Luke wrote the Epistle to the Hebrews is a question of literary history, and its determination one way or another will not affect the value of the epistle nor the essentials of the Christian faith. The great purpose of the Holy Scriptures is to make the man of God complete, furnished completely unto every good work; and we are admonished that every scripture, inspired of God, is also profitable for teaching, for...
